Dr. Sara Renwick-Lau, an experienced rural GP, has been providing comprehensive health care to remote communities for over a decade. As an accredited registrar supervisor, Sara's mentorship and supervision has led to highly successful progress to fellowships.

Dr. Emily Butlin first worked in Mallacoota in 2018 after a career in engineering, then as a junior doctor in hospitals. Dr Emily returned here after training in both anaesthetics and emergency medicine, and passing her Fellowship in 2021.

After being with us for three wonderful years, the 2021 Australian Rural Registrar of the Year was awarded to Dr Mubashar Sherazi, now with his family in Canberra.
